Campa Table Lamp

Campa

The Danish design studio, Spant Studio, is behind Campa. A series of lamps, where each one takes ownership of its unique signature, but where the distinctive design is echoed in all versions. The inspiration behind the design was to create a simple design without too many components, which would still catch the eye. The light source and shade's material have been carefully selected to do just that. The shade is made of opal glass, which creates a calming atmosphere for the eye and mind. The design of the shade creates a downward light, as well as through the semi-transparent glass, and the small grooves on the side of the shade are a stylish detail.
